Heather Collins from Chalford Parish Local History Group will present Researching old maps

In October 2024 Roger Carnt gave a presentation to his group on 'Chalford Parish in Old Maps' and the following year CPLHG published a full colour book Old Maps of Chalford, which Janet Hudson has reviewed for GLHA <https://gloshistory.org.uk/book-reviews/>

Roger broadened his selection of maps when he gave another talk on maps in Oakridge, only a few miles from Chalford, but the mapping was significantly different. The county maps produced after Saxton can be of use but for most areas the first detailed accurate maps were produced in the 18th century by Isaac Taylor. However, you can be lucky - Chalford for example has some scraps of maps dating from 1603!

The talk will describe not only the maps he found for Chalford and Oakridge but also across the county. He will be on holiday in June, but his friend Heather Collins (one of the key co-authors of Old Maps of Chalford) will be giving his presentation.

Meeting to finish approx 4.00 pm
